Destination ImagiNation® Global Finals • Knoxville, Tennessee

The University of Tennessee Welcomes

Destination ImagiNation®

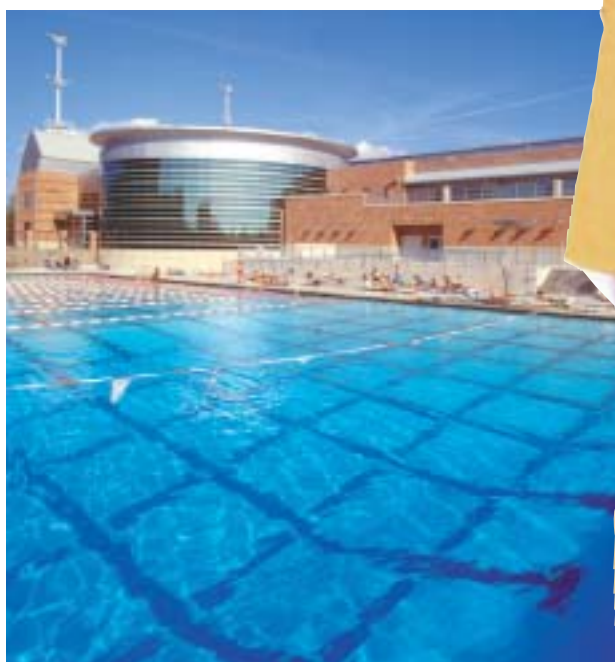

The University of Tennessee welcomes all participants to the 2004 Destination ImagiNation® Global Finals and hopes that everyone feels at home here in Big Orange Country! More than 8,000 participants and up to 7,000 supporters and spectators are expected to be a part of d2k.4.

The University of Tennessee is privileged to have some of the most creative and intellectually talented students from around the world visiting Knoxville. The university congratulates all the teams for their success in making it to Global Finals and hopes each participant will enjoy this unique opportunity.

Throughout the event, the Destination ImagiNation Daily News will carry information on what's happening at d2k.4, recreational activities, games, local weather forecasts, and area attractions.

New this year: Look for your competition schedules each day in Daily News!

Again, congratulations to each team, good luck, and welcome to the Destination ImagiNation Global Finals!

University of Tennessee staff members DIve in to the fun to welcome you to Destination ImagiNation Global Finals!
