

GuessDImate!

International Challenge Masters – Bob Igou & Michael Howard

You've built and rebuilt Structures of Wood and Glue trying to learn just how many pounds of weight it can hold. You gathered data as you built and broke Structure after Structure trying to discover how close your estimates come to reality. Finally, you built one last structure to hold the specific weight you bet it could hold so you could snag those Bonus Pounds.

Now that's what we call heavy, man!
